

2025 ANNUAL REPORT

SINCE 2005

Our goal create future leaders of Kenya and the World through Educational Opportunities.

CEO's Message

Weelcome to the 2025 Annual Newsletter of Kenya Keys. This edition captures a powerful journey of resilience, progress, and lasting impact, rooted in our shared commitment to expanding access to quality education across the Taru service area and throughout Kenya. KENYA KEYS has touched, over the last 20 years since its founding, lives and livelihoods in an unimaginable way. The stories, images, and milestones featured in this publication reflect lives transformed and futures reshaped through education, opportunity, and hope.

On behalf of the Board of Directors and the many students and families we serve, I extend my sincere gratitude to our partners, sponsors, and donors in the USA. Your generosity has sustained our scholarship program for bright and deserving learners, strengthened learning infrastructure in partner schools, expanded access to libraries, and fueled the growth of our wider community programs. Your belief in our mission continues to change lives.

Over the past 20 years, Kenya Keys has reached thousands of rural communities and households, touching the lives of more than one million learners. At the heart of our work is a simple but powerful conviction: education builds leaders. Through education, we confront illiteracy, break cycles of poverty, and equip young people to become agents of change within their own communities. As we challenge the status quo, we create pathways to possibility. Along this journey, we have learned that “poverty is complex and so is overcoming it”. These lessons have shaped our guiding principles: to educate, to nurture leadership, and to transform mindsets so that individuals and communities can seize opportunities for positive, lasting change.

Thank you for being part of the Kenya Keys journey and for being part of this remarkable journey. We wish you a joyful festive season and a fulfilling year ahead. As we look to 2026, we warmly invite you to continue walking with us as we unlock more potential and build a brighter future together.

KENYA KEYS (KENYA)

ABOUT US

Kenya Keys is a registered Public Benefit Organisation founded in 2005 by Joseph Mwengea, Rinda Hayes, and Brent Hayes. Rooted in the belief that education transforms lives, the organisation works to ensure that bright, motivated students from vulnerable backgrounds have the opportunity to learn and achieve their potential.

Our core work centres on high school and college sponsorships for deserving students who demonstrate exceptional academic potential. This support goes beyond tuition. Kenya Keys provides a full range of student support services, ensuring that sponsored learners remain in school and thrive. These services include transport assistance, shopping and personal necessities, medical support, school uniforms, upkeep, graduation support, and safe accommodation for college students.

Kenya Keys also invests in the holistic development of learners through a strong mentorship program. Mentors visit both primary and secondary schools within our service area, offering guidance on personal growth, academic planning, leadership, and life skills. This program helps students build confidence, make informed decisions, and stay committed to their education. To create conducive learning environments, Kenya Keys undertakes infrastructure development projects in partner institutions. Over the years, the organisation has constructed libraries, classrooms, and dormitories, ensuring that students have safe, adequate, and inspiring spaces to learn. In addition, Kenya Keys operates a community library and strengthens school libraries by offering managerial support, training, and book donations. These efforts promote a culture of reading and expand access to learning resources for thousands of learners.

Collaboration is central to our impact. Kenya Keys partners with local and international organisations to implement sustainable programs and community-driven projects across schools. These partnerships help extend educational opportunities to more children and broaden the reach of our initiatives. Our work is anchored in a service area of 10 primary schools and five high schools, where most programs and projects are implemented. In recent years, Kenya Keys has expanded its reach beyond this zone, responding to emerging needs and supporting schools and students in wider communities.

For nearly two decades, Kenya Keys has remained committed to opening doors, nurturing dreams, and empowering students through education; one life, one family, and one community at a time.

PROGRAMME HIGHLIGHTS

This year marks 20 years of driving the Kenya Keys mission of unlocking potential through educational opportunities, and it stands as one of our most remarkable milestones yet. Across our departments, a wide range of activities, programs, and projects have been carried out with one shared purpose to uplift students, strengthen our community, and expand the reach of our impact.

The work highlighted in the following pages reflects dedication, partnership, and the transformative power of education, inviting you to experience the successes and stories that made 2025 a year of proper growth and promise.

1. EDUCATION

Education is the heart of Kenya Keys. At its core is the Scholarship Program, opening doors for bright, needy students to access learning. Complementary initiatives like the Laptop Program strengthen this success. In 2025, scholarship outcomes clearly demonstrated how education transforms lives, families, and communities.

Twenty years ago, the reality was stark: bright students completed primary school only to return home, their dreams cut short by poverty. With no access to secondary education, talent was wasted, hope faded, and entire communities remained trapped in cycles of hardship. This painful academic loss inspired Kenya Keys to champion education initiatives that turn potential into opportunity.

SPONSORSHIP

In many rural schools, bright young minds dream beyond the walls around them, but poverty keeps the doors firmly shut. . Twenty years ago, in our rural schools, only about 5% of Class 8 graduates made it to high school. The remaining 95% stayed home, bright minds with dreams too big for the circumstances that held them back.

It was this heartbreaking reality that gave birth to the Kenya Keys Sponsorship Program, the heartbeat of our mission and the doorway that has opened hope and opportunity for thousands. This year, Kenya Keys has continued to unlock potential and shape the future leaders of Kenya and the world by giving students with no hope of continuing their education a chance to step back into a classroom. Thirty new scholarships were awarded to bright and deserving students in both high school and college. Among hundreds of requests, these opportunities stood as the turning point; a dream revived, a life redirected, and a future brightened.

Our dream remains clear: “to help as many children as possible access education, breaking poverty one child at a time, one home at a time, one sponsorship at a time.”

With the addition of the 30 new scholars, Kenya Keys now supports 439 active students across high schools and colleges. To date, 933 students have received full sponsorship, with their fees paid in full, and hundreds more have benefited from essential intervention support. These numbers speak to our long-standing commitment to uplifting bright and needy students who need one opportunity to rise.

Behind each scholarship is a powerful story, stories of students who stood at the edge of giving up until hope found them. Among the many lives transformed this year, a few stand out as a reminder of why this program exists.

TRANSITION TO COLLEGE

DREAMS
REALIZED, FUTURES TRANSFORMED.

One student shared, "I never imagined I could see myself in this classroom. Kenya Keys made the impossible possible for me."

TURNING DREAMS INTO REALITY, KENYA KEYS EMPOWERS STUDENTS TO RISE FROM HUMBLE BEGINNINGS TO FUTURES FULL OF OPPORTUNITY AND COMMUNITY IMPACT.

For many young students from rural Taru, stepping into college or university has long seemed like an unreachable dream. This year, Kenya Keys helped turn that dream into reality. In March, May, and September, 54 bright students transitioned from Form Four to colleges and universities across the country, beginning the pursuit of their chosen careers and aspirations. For most of these students, this was uncharted territory. Many had never travelled beyond their villages, and financial constraints had previously made such opportunities impossible. Families who had long feared their children's education would end were now filled with pride and joy, seeing their sons and daughters stepping into places they once thought unreachable.

WHAT IT MEANS

This milestone is more than an academic achievement; it is a vital step in uplifting entire communities. By enabling these students to access higher education, Kenya Keys is empowering future professionals who will return to their communities ready to address local challenges and create lasting impact.

GRADUATIONS

For every student who enters the Kenya Keys Sponsorship Program, graduation is the dream they hold closest to their hearts, the moment that proves hope can rise above hardship. This year, that dream came true for 20 remarkable students, each crossing the graduation stage with gratitude and a story of resilience that began in some of the most challenging corners of our communities. Their success is a celebration not only for them, but for their families, many of whom have long carried the weight of poverty and prayed for a moment like this. For most graduates, they are the first in their families to reach this milestone, and for many, they now become the new breadwinners, lifting entire households through the power of education

The impact reaches far beyond the graduates themselves. Each successful student becomes a living testimony, a symbol of what education can achieve even in hardship. Their stories ignite hope in younger students who are still struggling through the same conditions. Families who once saw no path out of poverty now see new possibilities. The community gains new professionals: teachers, nurses, engineers, social workers, and business leaders who will contribute to community growth and development. And for Kenya Keys, these graduations reaffirm that the mission is working: unlocking potential, breaking generational poverty, and proving that investing in education is investing in a transformed future.

This year's graduates stand as shining examples of perseverance and opportunity coming together, and as they step forward into their careers, they carry with them the promise of a brighter, stronger, and more empowered community.

2.GIRL CHILD EMPOWERMENT AND MENSTRUAL HYGIENE

EMPOWERING GIRLS THROUGH MENSTRUAL DIGNITY

WASHABLE HYGIEE KITS

For many bright but vulnerable girls, something as natural as menstruation becomes a barrier to their academic success. Without safe and reliable menstrual products, countless students miss classes, struggle with discomfort, and sometimes withdraw from school altogether. This year, the organisation intensified its commitment to ensuring that no girl's dreams are interrupted by a lack of menstrual hygiene support.

Throughout 2025, the organisation distributed more than 1,300 complete washable sanitary kits and over 800 disposable kits to school-going girls. Additionally, 140 menstrual cups were provided to young mothers, offering long-term, sustainable menstrual solutions for those who need them most.

To further strengthen hygiene practices, the department supplied over 600 pieces of laundry soap and reached more than 5,000 students through targeted health talks focused on menstrual health, hygiene, and reproductive well-being.

These efforts stem from a deep understanding of the challenges girls face, especially those from households where meeting basic needs is already a struggle. By providing washable kits that last up to four years, the organisation significantly reduces the economic burden on families while ensuring girls can attend school consistently and confidently. Supporting menstrual health has also contributed to lowering early pregnancy cases, improving self-esteem, and giving girls a fair chance to pursue their education and future careers.

One of the most encouraging outcomes came from a partner school, where the provision of washable kits saw girls' school attendance rise from 60% to 85%.

This single result echoes the broader impact of the program: improved attendance, higher concentration in class, increased confidence, and a pathway to academic success for girls who would otherwise be left behind.

In communities where vulnerability threatens educational continuity, this initiative is not just about hygiene; it is about restoring dignity, unlocking potential, and giving every girl a chance to shape her future.

WASHABLE SANITARY WITH SOAP

As part of the Hope Springs program, Kenya Keys recognises that students cannot reach their full potential without basic support for well-being. In 2025, 90 girls and 90 boys each month received essential hygiene supplies, sanitary towels for the girls, and soap for all students. Over the year, this amounted to 1,080 sanitary towels and 2,160 packets of soap, ensuring that girls could attend school safely and with confidence while all students maintained proper hygiene.

Beyond the immediate physical benefits, the program has a profound impact on student morale and school attendance. By addressing basic needs, Kenya Keys empowers students to remain committed to their education, boosts self-confidence, and fosters a safer, healthier learning environment. With these small but essential interventions, the organisation ensures that no student is held back by preventable challenges, allowing every learner to pursue their dreams with dignity and focus.

3. STUDENT SUPPORT

The journey to achieving dreams for students begins with feeling safe, supported, and dignified, and that is the heart of the Kenya Keys Organization. This year has been an exceptional one, marked by meaningful achievements that strengthened student well-being.

The organization ensures that students, regardless of gender or background, can pursue education without barriers. Through key programs such as Vital Student Support for college students and Usalama Support for high school students, the organization provides essential needs, including shopping, upkeep, transport, accommodation, medical assistance, graduation support, and launching kits for new students.

STUDENT SUPPORT

VITAL STUDENTS SUPPORT

For students from needy backgrounds, even the smallest lack of necessities can threaten their dreams of education. Kenya Keys understands that an unsupported student cannot reach their full potential. This is where the Vital Student Support (VSS) program, designed specifically for college and university students, steps in to bridge the gap and ensure they pursue higher education with dignity and confidence.

In 2025, VSS made a remarkable impact by addressing 761 student support cases, covering essential needs such as upkeep, accommodation, transport, medical assistance and graduation support.

Without this intervention, many young scholars would have faced overwhelming hurdles, some going without food, some unable to afford transport to campus, and others struggling to secure safe housing or medical care while studying far from home.

Kenya Keys understands that supporting college and university students at this delicate stage is not merely an act of charity, it is an investment in future leaders, professionals, and community changemakers. This year, every sponsored student remained in school.

USALAMA PROGRAM

For high school learners, the lack of essential support can threaten both their well-being and their academic journey. The USALAMA Program exists to protect and empower vulnerable high school students by ensuring they can attend school safely, consistently, and with dignity.

In 2025, USALAMA addressed 482 cases of student support, offering upkeep, medical assistance, transport, and uniform maintenance. For many learners, this assistance filled urgent gaps that could have forced them out of school, such as a lack of transport, inability to afford basic hygiene needs, or medical emergencies that would otherwise go untreated.

By stepping in at these critical moments, the program helps students stay in school, remain focused on their studies, and continue building toward a better future. The support not only prevents dropouts but also boosts confidence and motivation among students who often face overwhelming hardships at home.

HOPE SPRING KIT

For many young learners, challenges at home or in their communities can put their dreams on the brink of collapse. Kenya Keys' Hope Spring Support Kit provides timely support to students whose education is at risk, ensuring that temporary hardships do not halt their academic journey.

In 2025, 128 students, in primary and junior secondary levels, received essential assistance through the Hope Spring Support Kit.

This support covered school levies, uniforms, stationery, medication, and other critical items, helping them stay in school, remain focused, and continue striving toward their dreams.

By addressing these pressing needs, the program not only prevents dropouts but also strengthens students' motivation and morale. It demonstrates Kenya Keys' commitment to ensuring that every child, regardless of circumstance, has the resources and encouragement to pursue education and unlock their full potential.

LAUNCHING KITS

For many students transitioning from high school to college, the excitement of joining a higher institution is often mixed with anxiety, especially for those from vulnerable households. The reality is that beginning college requires basic items that many families cannot afford. Without them, students face unnecessary hardship that can easily interfere with their academic focus and overall well-being.

This year, the Launching Kit program played a key role in easing this transition by providing Launching Kits to all students beginning their tertiary education. This financial assistance ensured that every beneficiary had the essential items needed to settle comfortably into college life, study with dignity, and embrace their new chapter with confidence.

In 2025, the organisation supported 54 college students with Launching Kits, ensuring they stepped into their academic journey fully equipped. Additionally, five high school students affected by school fires received tailored support to help them recover and return to their education without delay.

This simple but powerful intervention has not only reduced financial pressure on already struggling families but has also strengthened students' motivation, restored hope, and created an equal starting ground for our students.

4. COMMUNITY LIBRARY

Many learners return home to houses without books or quiet study spaces. The Kenya Keys

Community Library has become the doorway to possibility, a place where dreams are shaped, curiosity is fed. Students discover that their circumstances do not define their potential.

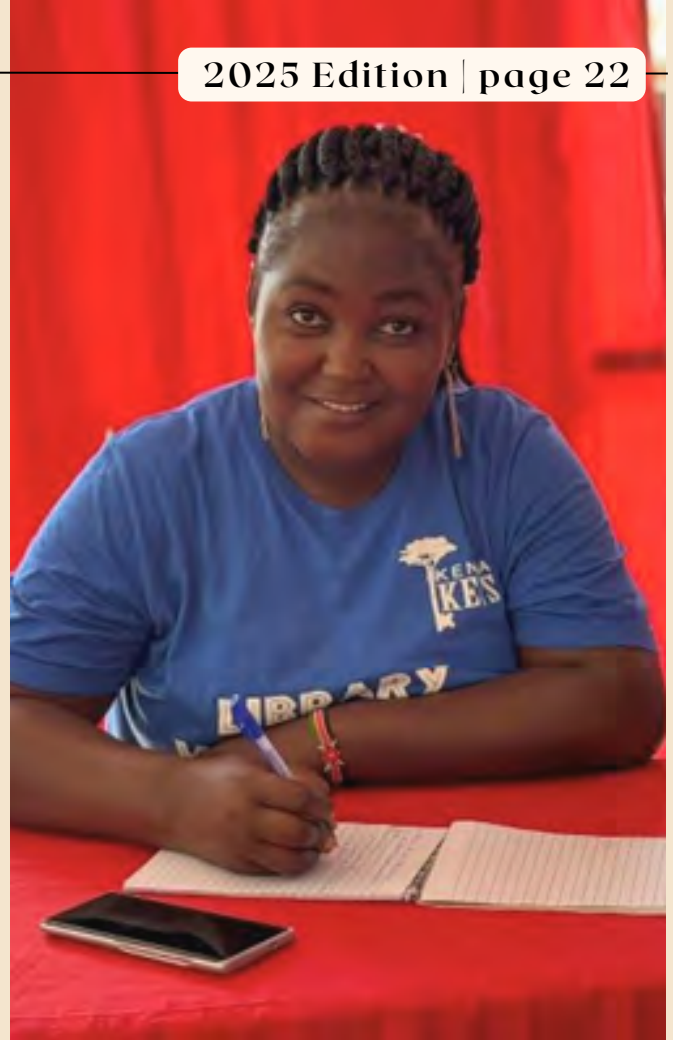

In 2025, the library continued to play a pivotal role in the Taru community by providing students with access to essential learning materials that many cannot obtain at home. The library offers safe spaces for personal and group study and evening reading sessions.

Recognising that some schools are located far from the library, Kenya Keys staff undertook extensive outreach programs, bringing books and learning resources directly to underprivileged schools. These efforts have helped bridge the gap for students in remote areas, giving them equal opportunities to succeed academically.

Beyond providing books, the library staff has supported school libraries across Kenya Keys' service area by offering managerial guidance, training, and mentorship to ensure smooth operations. These initiatives have strengthened the capacity of partner schools and empowered students to take advantage of the resources available.

The community library impacted more than 4800 students this year. Through dedication, the Kenya Keys Community Library continues to transform the future of students and the community at large; one book, one child, and one dream at a time.

5. MENTORSHIP & LEADERSHIP DEVELOPMENT

Mentorship Highlight

Many young learners face circumstances that make their dreams seem unreachable, Kenya Keys' Mentorship is a beacon of hope. Focused on both primary and secondary school students, the program goes beyond guidance, helping students navigate academic challenges, build self-confidence, and make informed life choices. Mentorship is not only about conversations; it includes the provision of incentives and critical support that ensure learners stay in school and continue pursuing their education.

Hope Springs Program

This year, the Hope Springs program reached nine primary schools, mentoring a total of 360 students, 40 per school, with an equal mix of boys and girls. Designed for selected students facing difficult circumstances, the program provides a structured curriculum focused on instilling hope, building life skills, and helping learners pursue their dreams. Many of these students come from households where older siblings were unable to continue their education due to poverty or other challenges, making this opportunity especially transformative.

Life Skills and Dream Building for Young Learners

The program has been highly successful, with students actively engaging, sharing their stories, and embracing education with renewed determination.

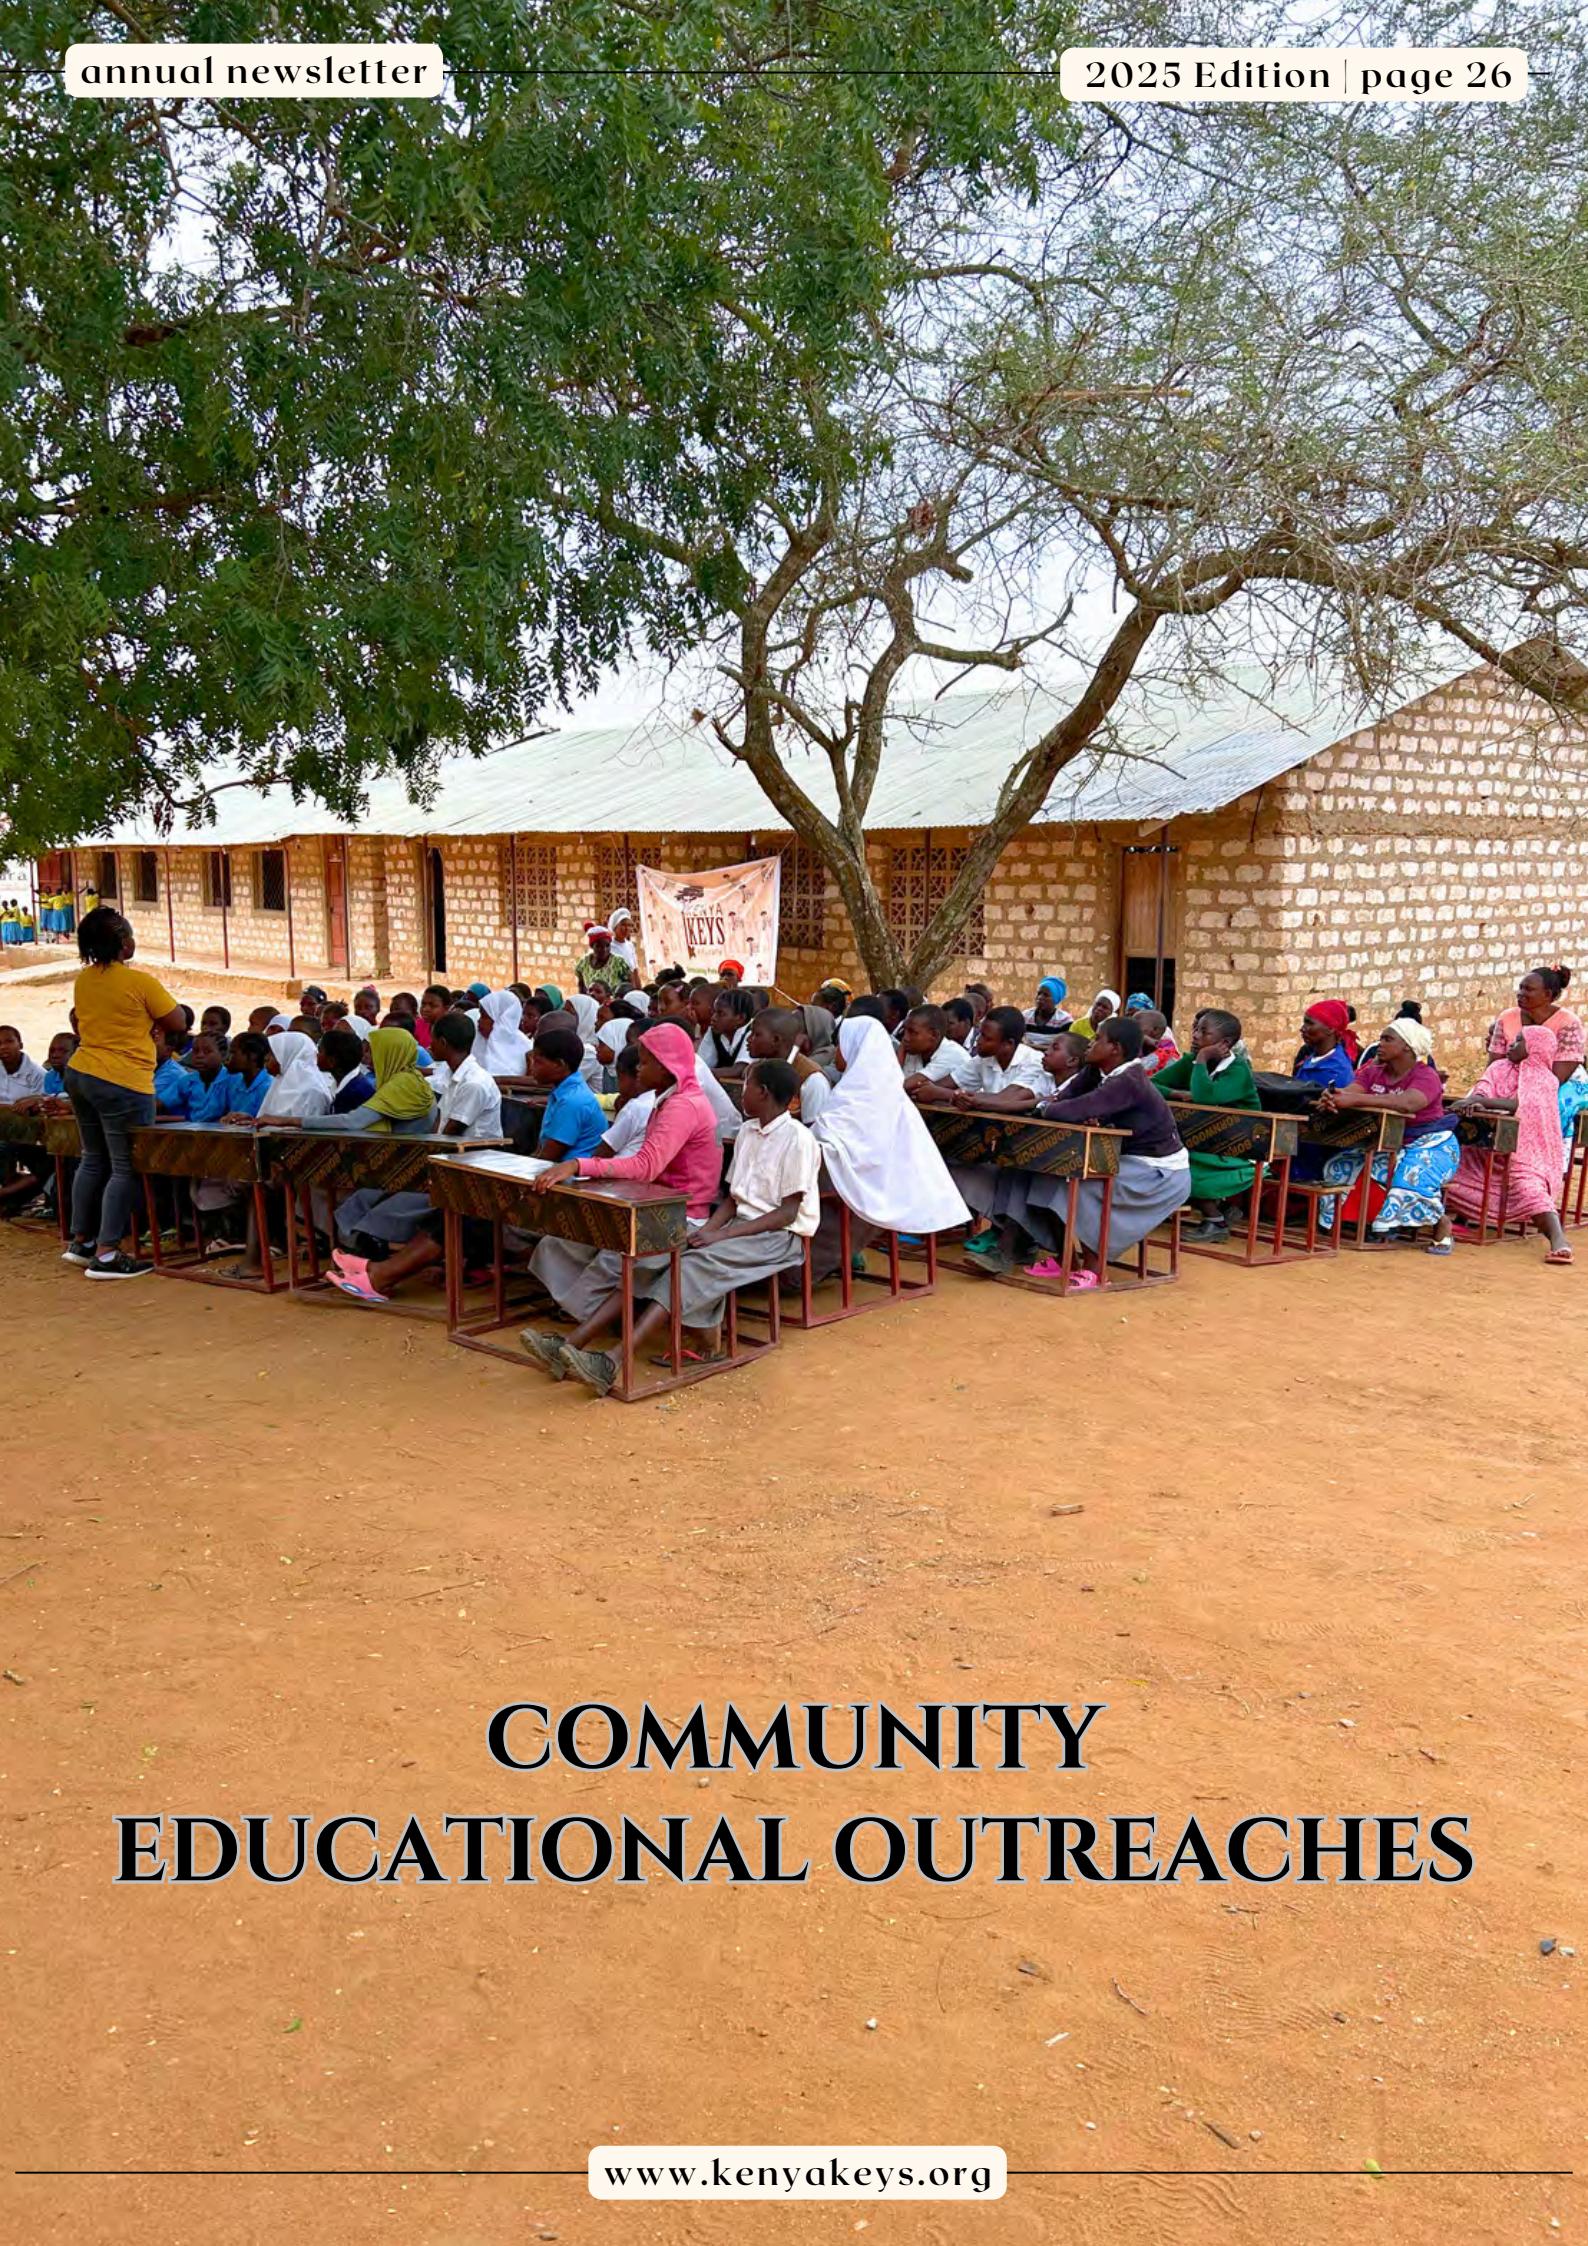

Through Hope Springs, Kenya Keys ensures that even the most vulnerable students are empowered to dream big and stay committed to learning.

Personalized mentorship empowers students.

Central to the Hope Springs program is a strong emphasis on personal connection. Mentors take time to understand each student's unique background and challenges, providing customised guidance that helps learners overcome obstacles and remain focused on their educational journey.

COMMUNITY EDUCATIONAL OUTREACHES

"IF THEY MADE IT, I CAN TOO."

Kenya Keys' Outreach Programs extend hope to students far beyond the Hope Springs core group, reaching learners who urgently need encouragement and direction. This year, three major outreaches were carried out in Kilibasi, Magale, and Taru, bringing transformative mentorship to 785 students.

These sessions were designed to rebuild morale, strengthen decision-making, and help young learners understand the power of education despite the challenges around them. To reinforce the mentorship experience, every student received a small but meaningful set of incentives: Sanitary towels, soap, a pen, a pencil, and an exercise book. . These items served as practical support and a symbolic reminder that their dreams matter and someone is standing with them.

A key strength of the outreaches is the collaboration with professionals. Health experts, counsellors, and successful community role models join the mentors, offering relatable stories and real-life guidance. Students get to meet individuals who once walked in their shoes, faced the same hardships, but chose education and rose above the odds. Seeing these examples ignites belief: "If they made it, I can too."

SOB AND SOS

In 2025, Kenya Keys strengthened student-led care and responsibility through the Save Our Brothers (SOB) and Save Our Sisters (SOS) Clubs across five secondary schools. These clubs were born from students' own compassion, recognising peers who struggle to afford basic necessities such as hygiene items, stationery, and, in some cases, school fees. With Kenya Keys' support, the clubs provide a safe platform where boys and girls identify vulnerable classmates, mobilise support, and respond with dignity and empathy.

The SOS Clubs focus on empowering girls through mentorship, life-skills discussions, and awareness on gender equality, health, and responsible decision-making, while also offering practical menstrual and hygiene support. The SOB Clubs nurture responsibility among boys, encouraging them to speak up, support one another, and actively contribute to solutions through income-generating projects such as vegetable farming and poultry initiatives.

In 2025, these clubs not only distributed essential supplies but also demonstrated remarkable leadership, raising funds to prevent school dropouts and restoring hope among vulnerable students. Through SOB and SOS, Kenya Keys is cultivating a generation of compassionate leaders who understand that change begins with caring for one another.

ADDITIONAL SCHOOL MENTORSHIP

Beyond the Community outreach, Kenya Keys also responded to direct mentorship requests from schools, especially high schools facing declining student morale and rising social challenges. This year, two-day secondary schools were reached, where a total of 1,800 students received structured mentorship. Kenya Keys alumni played a key role, sharing their stories, guiding learners, and proving that perseverance can open doors to brighter futures.

KENYA KEYS SPONSORED STUDENTS CONFERENCES

Kenya Keys organises conferences that go beyond academics, providing sponsored students and their parents with mentorship, guidance, and practical tools for success. Students engage in sessions on leadership, goal-setting, and personal development, while parents learn how to support their children's education effectively.

These gatherings have strengthened the bond between home and school, ensuring consistent mentorship and follow-up. As a result, a higher percentage of students are completing school, excelling academically, and stepping confidently into their futures. Through these conferences, Kenya Keys demonstrates its unwavering commitment to nurturing the whole student; guiding, empowering, and transforming lives for lasting impact.

6.INFRASTRUCTURE DEVELOPMENT

KARIMANI SCHOOL PROJECT

"In counting our great successes this year, Karimani School Project comes first." Karimani School Project is a landmark initiative that transformed a long-standing dream into reality. This school, initiated by Kenya Keys alumni from the Karimani area, has long symbolised the aspirations of a community determined to provide education despite daunting challenges. During their own school days, these alumni travelled long distances, braved wildlife, and often had to wait until they were older to start school.

Until recently, the growing school operated in makeshift, dusty structures that were inconducive to learning. The local community, contributing what little they could, volunteered labour to improve the facilities. This year, Kenya Keys, in partnership with the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, elevated the school to new heights by constructing:

1. Three spacious, modern classrooms
2. A water tank to ensure clean water access
3. Solar panels and connections to classrooms
4. 300 desks to accommodate the rising number of students

The impact has been transformative. Students now enjoy dignified learning spaces, inspiring both academic engagement and a sense of community pride.

"I never imagined we could learn in classrooms like these. Kenya Keys has changed our school and our dreams."

"For years, we hoped for better spaces. Today, thanks to Kenya Keys and The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, our children learn with joy and safety."

This project demonstrates the ripple effect of Kenya Keys' sponsorship program, where alumni, empowered by education, become change-makers in their communities. As the school continues to grow, the improved infrastructure is expected to attract even more students, opening doors for future generations. Celebrating 20 years of service, the Karimani School Project stands as a testament to the organisation's legacy: transforming communities, empowering alumni, and turning dreams into reality.

PARTNER PROGRAMS

1. NDOHIVYO SPECIAL NEEDS SCHOOL

Kenya Keys believes that children with special needs are not defined by their limitations, but by the incredible abilities waiting to be nurtured. Ndohivyo Special School stands as a living reminder that when special children are given opportunity, the whole community rises.

This year, our commitment to inclusive education reached new heights as we supported 33 learners with special needs, covering their school fees and ensuring they had access to education that many families once thought impossible. By caring for these children, the organisation has not only empowered students to learn and grow, but it has also inspired parents and the wider community to recognise the immense value of educating children with special needs.

To create a safe and comfortable learning environment, this year, Kenya Keys donated 20 beds, mattresses, and Mackintosh covers, directly addressing the school's growing needs and ensuring students live and study with dignity. Kenya Keys supports salaries for four non-teaching staff. Through this Support, the wages of key non-teaching staff have also strengthened the school's operations, allowing educators to focus entirely on developing the children's potential.

One of the year's most celebrated highlights was the fully funded Ndohivyo Special Olympics, attended by Kenya Keys staff and U.S. donors.

The event offered students a platform to showcase their talents in games, singing, and dancing, while every participant received a medal, celebrating achievement, courage, and inclusion. Beyond the joy, the Olympics created greater community awareness about the importance of supporting children with special needs, inspiring families and neighbours to embrace inclusive education.

By giving these students opportunities to shine, Kenya Keys demonstrates how targeted support not only transforms individual lives but also strengthens the wider community, fosters social inclusion, and affirms the organisation's commitment to ensuring education is accessible to all.

2. TECHLIT PROGRAM

For many students, a laptop or internet access is a dream too distant to imagine, but Kenya Keys is making that a reality. In communities where electricity is scarce and modern technology is often out of reach, vulnerable students are now stepping into the world of computers, coding, and digital creativity for the first time.

Through the Techlit Program, offered in partnership with Techlit Africa, students from Magale, Taru, Mgalani, Egu, and Fuleye Primary Schools are learning essential digital skills, from basic computer use to advanced programming and design, opening doors to technology-driven careers they had only dreamed of.

In 2025, the program reached over 2,000 students, giving them exposure to technology and the confidence to explore digital opportunities.

Students have expressed immense appreciation for the program; one remarked, "I never imagined I could use a computer, but now I can design and even dream of becoming an engineer one day." Kenya Keys' vision is to see all schools in its service area equipped with this transformative knowledge, ensuring that poverty does not limit a child's ability to explore technology, pursue tech careers, and unlock their full potential. This program is not just about teaching computers; it's about empowering the next generation to compete, innovate, and thrive in a digital world.

3. Non-formal Education Support

For many adults, early life challenges such as poverty, early marriage, and school dropouts put their dreams out of reach, but Kenya Keys is reigniting hope. Through supporting the Non-Formal Education Program, young mothers, fathers, and other adults who missed out on formal education are now reclaiming their dreams and pursuing academic and career opportunities despite their responsibilities.

As these adults pursue their dreams, they become role models, demonstrating that education can overcome early setbacks, poverty, and societal barriers. The ripple effect strengthens communities, breaks the cycle of illiteracy, and lays a foundation for long-term social and economic growth.

Up to 2025, the program has supported over 200 adult learners, with 38 students taking their national examinations in 2025, building on last year's 35 graduates. This year, the Taru NFE Centre was recognised as the most improved centre and the one with the highest student enrollment nationwide, highlighting the program's growing impact. Kenya Keys provides holistic support to ensure learners succeed, including daily meals, examination registration, upkeep, stationery, and salaries for four dedicated teachers. Through these efforts, the organisation reduces illiteracy, renews hope, and empowers adults to pursue their dreams.

FOOD DONATIONS

CRITICAL FOOD DONATIONS

When the worry of empty stomachs threatened to dim the bright minds during exam season, Kenya Keys stepped in. Understanding that hunger can derail focus, concentration, and performance, the organisation provided timely food support to schools, ensuring that students could sit for their national examinations with strength, dignity, and peace of mind.

In 2025, 1967 students across 17 institutions, including primary schools, high schools, and a children's home, benefited from this intervention. The donation included maize, maize flour, wheat flour, rice, beans, cooking oil, and sugar, providing a consistent supply of meals during the critical exam period. By ensuring that students were well-nourished, the program directly contributed to improved focus, reduced anxiety, and better readiness for their examinations.

This initiative underscores Kenya Keys' commitment to removing barriers to education for vulnerable students. By addressing basic needs, the organisation ensures that students are empowered to excel academically, opening doors to brighter futures. The food donation stands as a testament to how strategic support can transform communities, strengthen families, and foster success for future generations.

The impact was immediate and profound. One student shared, "Knowing I will have food at school gives me peace and lets me focus on doing my best in the exams." A teacher expressed relief, stating, "We were worried about how students could concentrate on their studies without meals. Kenya Keys' support has been a huge blessing."

KULUPHIRO LA MWANA FESTIVE GIFT

During the festive season, Kenya Keys extended the spirit of love and inclusion to Kuluphiiro Children's Home through a special festive gift initiative. Recognising that many vulnerable children remain at the orphanage during the holidays, the organisation ensured they, too, experienced joy, dignity, and celebration.

CELEBRATING 20 YEARS

HONOURING THE LEGACY OF LOVE

On June 5, 2025, Kenya Keys marked a remarkable milestone: 20 years of transforming lives through education. This landmark celebration brought together students, alumni, community members, partners, and longstanding U.S. donors, all gathered to honour the journey, acknowledge the successes, and renew the vision for even greater impact in the years ahead.

The celebration reflected on the organisation's legacy of unlocking potential for bright but underprivileged students, remembering humble beginnings and recognising the hunger to achieve more. Special appreciation was extended to the founders, Mama Rinda Hayes, Joseph Mwengea, and Brent Hayes, whose vision and dedication laid the foundation for Kenya Keys' transformative work. Gratitude was also expressed to the Kenya and U.S. boards, whose guidance and stewardship have continually directed the organisation toward its mission with professionalism and integrity.

Students shared inspiring stories of dreams realised, alums highlighted the ripple effects of sponsorship on their communities, and donors witnessed firsthand the lasting impact of their support. The event was especially memorable as it also featured the official opening of the new Kenya Keys Community Education Centre. This facility stands as a tangible symbol of the organisation's growth and dedication, providing a permanent space for learning, mentorship, training, and community engagement. The Centre will go a long way in supporting students and the wider community, offering a hub for educational programs, workshops, and activities that empower learners of all ages.

The dual milestones of the 20th anniversary and the opening of the Community Education Centre underscored Kenya Keys' enduring commitment to education, reinforcing the organisation's mission and igniting excitement for the years to come.

TEAM BUILDING

One of the key highlights of the year was a memorable team-building trip to Tsavo East National Park for Kenya Keys staff. This experience was more than just a getaway; it was a deliberate investment in the people who drive the mission forward every day. By creating space for connection, reflection, and renewed energy, the organisation demonstrated its deep commitment to valuing, supporting, and empowering its team. The trip enhanced collaboration and boosted morale, ensuring that staff returned re-energised and united in purpose. A strong team is essential for a substantial impact, and this initiative affirmed Kenya Keys' belief that caring for its staff is foundational to achieving its mission for the communities it serves.

U.S. TEAM VISITS TO KENYA

All the success Kenya Keys continues to celebrate is deeply rooted in the strong coordination between the team in Kenya and the vast, committed community of sponsors and partners in the United States. This shared vision and close collaboration came to life vividly through the successful visits of U.S. teams to Kenya in March, June, and October 2025.

These visits were more than courtesy engagements; they were powerful moments of connection and shared purpose. Donors had the opportunity to meet their sponsored students face-to-face, witness firsthand the transformation their support makes possible, and see the projects they have funded in action. They visited schools, interacted with teachers, explored learning environments, and spent time in students' homes, gaining a deeper understanding of the realities and resilience of the families Kenya Keys serves.

For students, these encounters were deeply affirming. Meeting the people who believe in them strengthened their confidence, motivation, and sense of belonging. For donors, the visits offered meaningful insight into the impact of their generosity, turning support into personal relationships and shared stories.

One of the most memorable highlights of the year was when a visiting U.S. team witnessed the official opening of the Kenya Keys Community Education Centre (CEC) and the handover of the Karimani School Project.

These milestones stood as living proof of what sustained partnership and trust can achieve. First-time visitors were also warmly welcomed into the local culture, with many receiving African names, an experience that symbolised unity, respect, and lasting connection.

STAFF RETREAT

In a reflective and energising retreat in Malindi, the Kenya Keys team came together to review the remarkable journey of 2025 and chart a bold path for 2026. This retreat was more than a meeting; it was a deliberate pause to highlight the achievements, learn from challenges, and align as a unified team committed to transforming lives through education. Over several days, staff engaged in deep discussions, sharing stories of impact from the past year, from the students whose dreams were realised through scholarships to communities uplifted through our programs.

Through this robust review, the team analysed every department's performance, identifying lessons that will strengthen our programs, sharpen our strategies, and make our interventions even more effective. It was a moment to acknowledge the dedication, creativity, and resilience of every staff member, whose commitment ensures that every child we serve has the opportunity to thrive.

As plans for 2026 were mapped, a sense of renewed purpose and excitement was evident. With clear strategies, streamlined processes, and strengthened collaborations, the organisation is poised for a year of even greater achievements. With the energy, lessons, and vision gained from this gathering, Kenya Keys steps into 2026 ready to reach more students, empower more communities, and continue transforming lives with unwavering commitment and passion.

SUCCESS STORIES

JABU KONZI

I am a native of Magale village, situated within the Taru location of Samburu Sub-County, Kwale County. I am the fifth of seven surviving siblings in our family. My father, who is now deceased, worked as a casual labourer for Kenya Railways, while my mother was a homemaker. My siblings and I faced significant challenges during our upbringing due to our family's low income. The situation worsened when my father passed away when I was 12 years old. This forced my mother to start working odd jobs, including selling charcoal, to ensure we received an education and other essential needs.

My high school studies were fraught with challenges, including being sent home repeatedly due to a lack of school fees, sometimes even lacking food at home, and other difficulties.

However, these challenges motivated me to work even harder, believing that education would be the key to liberation for my life and my family's. When I took my Form Four examination, I performed exceptionally well, bringing joy to everyone at home and the entire community. Nevertheless, these results added a heavy burden to my mother, who was unsure of what to do, fully aware that higher education was costly.

It was at this point that I decided to approach Kenya Keys. When I explained the situation, I was guided to write a letter and submit it to the office. I did so, and frankly, I couldn't believe what happened next, as I was able to secure sponsorship for my university studies. When my mother received this news, she shed tears of joy, above all, thanking God for opening doors of blessings.

When the time came, I joined a university to pursue a Bachelor of Arts in Criminology, a field that had been my passion since childhood. The situation became even more challenging despite having sponsorship from Kenya Keys, as I had to manage other small expenses myself. There came a time when I had to return to the Kenya Keys office and ask if they could cover my rental fee, as the situation had become even more difficult.

Since the organisation understood the circumstances, I was able to handle the challenges more effectively. Despite all the challenges I faced, I was able to gather my strength, remembering Baba Brent's words that I am the future leader of this great country, Kenya. I graduated with a degree in 2019. I did not hesitate to apply for a job when I saw an advertisement. I secured permanent employment with the State Department of Correctional Services, where I have been working since then.

HALIMA MWATELA

Born and raised along the bustling Macknon Road in Kwale County, Halima Mwatela's story begins in a humble home filled with hope, hard work, and the quiet determination of a family that believed education was the doorway to a better life. Her childhood was shaped by struggle; days of helping at home, studying under dim light, and walking long distances to school, all while holding tightly to dreams far bigger than her surroundings.

Growing up, Halima's family faced significant financial hardships. School fees were uncertain, basic needs were often stretched, and the future felt unpredictable. Yet in the midst of these challenges, Halima nurtured an extraordinary sense of curiosity and ambition. She excelled academically at her local primary school and later in high school, driven by a belief that education was her only sure path forward.

But behind her strong performance were real fears: Would her family be able to keep her in school? Would her dreams end after high school? These questions weighed heavily on her young shoulders. It was during her high school years that Halima first encountered Kenya Keys, an organisation she would soon regard as a life-changing bridge between her dreams and her destiny. After completing Form 4 and before knowing what the future held, she volunteered as a librarian at the Taru Library, a space built by Kenya Keys to inspire learners like her.

For two years, she showed up faithfully, organizing books, guiding students, and encouraging young readers. That breakthrough came when Kenya Keys awarded her a full university scholarship. The news transformed not only Halima's life but also that of her family. Tears, prayers, gratitude, and renewed hope filled their home. For the first time, the future finally felt within reach.

With sponsorship came more than tuition. It came with dignity, stability, and freedom from constant financial worry. Mentorship support allowed Halima to focus entirely on her studies and grow into the leader she is today. Halima graduated with a Bachelor's Degree in Finance, a milestone that marked the beginning of a new chapter. The transition from student life to professional life demanded courage. The job market was competitive, and opportunities were limited. But Halima was determined. She worked hard, built networks, and eventually stepped confidently into entrepreneurship. Today, she runs a thriving insurance agency in Mombasa, serves on the boards of several schools and higher learning institutions, and leads with integrity in every space she occupies.

As Chairperson of the Kwale Biashara Revolving Fund, Halima Mwatela provides strategic leadership to programs that empower small and medium enterprises, enabling families to build stable livelihoods, grow sustainable businesses, and create lasting economic opportunities. Her work has strengthened local entrepreneurship, increased household resilience, and inspired many young people and women to pursue financial independence, turning community challenges into pathways for growth and long-term prosperity. Halima's dedication and impact have earned her wide recognition, including multiple Top Insurance Agent awards, Best Youth Mentor honours, and several community leadership distinctions.

These recognitions reflect not just personal success but a life dedicated to service, mentorship, and nurturing others; proving that when education, opportunity, and determination come together, the result is a leader whose influence transforms lives and communities. But beyond achievements and recognition, Halima's most incredible pride lies in the lives she has transformed. Inspired by the support she once received, she has committed her life to giving back through Kenya Keys Alumni and the Hatua Network. She mentors high school and university students, supports financially needy learners, and guides young entrepreneurs, helping them see possibilities beyond hardship.

KALIMBO MKALA

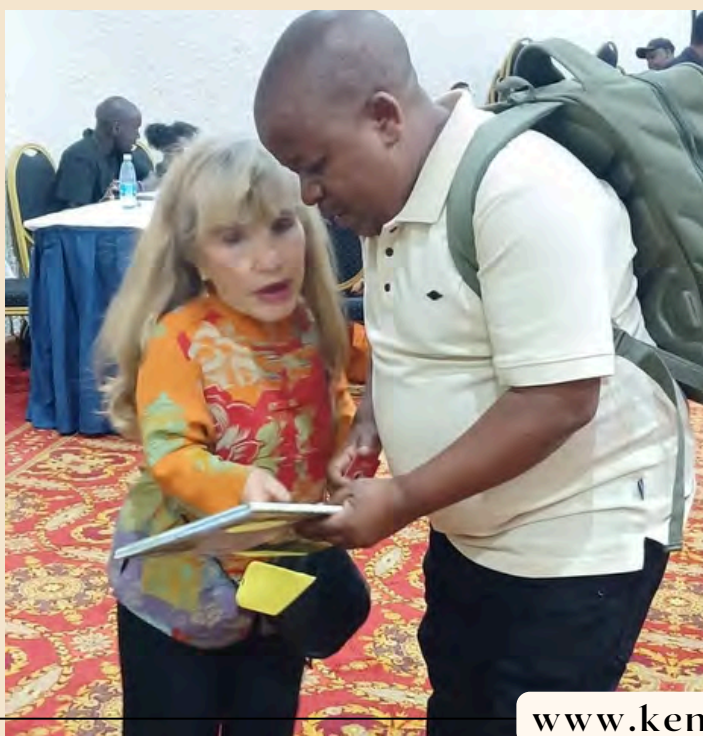

My name is Kalimbo Mkala, and my journey is one shaped by resilience, hope, and the life-changing support of the Kenya Keys sponsorship program. I share my story not just as a success, but as a testament to what determination, compassion, and opportunity can achieve. I was raised in a traditional extended family where my mother was the third-last among twelve wives. Growing up in such a polygamous environment was not easy, and life came with many emotional and social challenges.

Additionally, I was born a little person, which is something that many people in my community struggled to understand. Instead of seeing me as a child with potential, some believed I was a “bad omen” or a curse. In my culture, people with disabilities were often viewed as burdens or signs of bad luck. These beliefs made my childhood painful and lonely.

Besides societal stigma, my family struggled financially. Meeting basic needs was already difficult, and school fees, uniforms, and books added even more pressure. For my mother, caring for her children in a competitive household setting was highly challenging, and I could feel the weight she carried.

Before joining the Kenya Keys sponsorship program, I lived in constant fear about my future. I didn't know if I would be able to finish school. I worried that poverty and the stigma surrounding disability would force me out of the education system. I feared living a life defined by what people believed about me, rather than what I thought about myself. I first learned about the Kenya Keys sponsorship through Mr. Joseph Mwangea, who called me and told me to visit Taru to collect my college fees, as I had been staying at home for nearly a year due to challenges with my sponsorship from another organisation.

Kenya Keys stepped in and addressed the biggest struggles we had: Payment of school fees, Upkeep, transport, and Emotional support and mentorship. This support removed a heavy burden from my parents. I was no longer sent home for school fees, and I could finally learn in peace. The sponsorship brought stability into my life. My home became less tense because fees were handled. In school, I gained confidence.

I no longer had to worry about missing classes or dropping out of school. The support allowed me to focus on my studies, and for the first time in my life, I began to believe in a better future. Despite the financial relief, I still struggled emotionally. I was body-shamed because of my height. Some students mocked me, and my self-esteem dropped. I often felt unworthy, invisible, or “less than.” However, with time, mentorship from Undugu, Kenya Keys, the Short Stature Society of Kenya, and my own inner strength helped me rise above the negativity. I learned to love myself, to trust my abilities, and to walk proudly with my uniqueness.

The mentorship sessions strengthened my confidence. The upkeep and transport support made my school life smoother. The emotional encouragement reminded me that disability is not inability. Kenya Keys reminded me that I was enough and that I deserved opportunities just like everyone else.

Today, I am an ACCOUNTANT working at the Parliamentary Service Commission Kinango office, a position that I am deeply proud of. My job enables me to serve my community, engage in meaningful administrative work, and challenge stereotypes about individuals living with disabilities.

Through my own journey, I founded the Melting Hearts Initiative Kenya, an organization that supports children with disabilities. I have a deep passion for empowering others, especially Children with Disabilities and Persons with disabilities.

SALMA CHIZI NYAMAWI

Growing up in Taru Village, Kwale County, my childhood was filled with love, but also marked by financial struggles that made education feel uncertain. My parents worked hard, yet school fees, uniforms, and learning materials were often beyond reach. I feared that my dreams might be cut short long before they began. Everything changed in 2016, when I joined Mwasere Girls' High School and was accepted into the Kenya Keys sponsorship program. The news brought joy to my family. The support lifted an enormous burden by covering school fees, uniforms, and essential items, allowing me to focus entirely on my studies.

With encouragement and mentorship from Kenya Keys, I completed high school in 2019 with a B Plain. In 2021, I joined Jaramogi Oginga Odinga University of Science and Technology to pursue a Bachelor's Degree in Public Health. University brought new challenges, including accommodation, transport, and academic pressure, but the support I received kept me grounded.

I proudly graduated in 2024 with a Second Class Upper Division degree. Today, I serve as a Teach For Kenya Fellow, working with learners from underserved communities. I mentor students, especially young girls, encouraging them to stay in school and believe in their potential. I am passionate about addressing education barriers, gender issues, health awareness, and poverty challenges that deeply affect rural communities like mine. Looking back, the Kenya Keys sponsorship didn't just fund my education; it transformed my life. It gave me the courage to dream, the resources to grow, and the determination to rise beyond my circumstances. Without this support, my story would have been very different. Kenya Keys helped me become who I am today.

JOSEPH CHIWEWE

My journey began in the small village of Taru Roka, where I was the last of my mother's six children in a large, struggling family. Growing up, the priority was always securing a single meal, not education. I often went to Taru Primary School barefoot, and I watched my elder brother drop out in Class Seven to help provide for us. My parents, though, kept telling me I was their only hope, pushing me to focus despite the overwhelming poverty.

That focus paid off in 2015. After being inspired by a mentorship session with the Kenya Keys team at my school, I worked relentlessly and scored 325 marks on the KCPE. When my stranded father had nothing left to pay for high school, a phone call from Mr Kabani changed everything: I had secured a Kenya Keys sponsorship. This was a miracle that ensured my fees were covered and I was admitted to Kinango Boys Secondary School. The support extended beyond finances; when my grades dropped severely in Form Two due to immense personal stress, my teachers and the mentorship from Madam Clemence at Kenya Keys guided me back on track, culminating in a strong B-Minus grade on my final exams.

The challenges only intensified as I prepared to join Murang'a University of Technology to pursue my Bachelor's in Education Arts (Geography/Kiswahili). This period was marked by profound grief: I lost my elder sister, then my brother's wife, and heartbreakingly, my father passed away on the very day he had promised to celebrate my high school achievement. I was constantly battling depression and faced pressure to quit school and return home. It was the unwavering support from Kenya Keys, especially the emotional guidance from Mr Stephen Kabani, that kept me anchored. The organisation provided for every need, including fees, fare, and upkeep, but the most significant difference was the mentorship that helped me navigate the intense emotional burden. I was determined to honour my father and fulfil the promise I made to my family.

On August 22, 2025, I walked across the stage to receive my diploma. This moment meant everything. I became the first person in my entire family to graduate from a university. My mother and siblings are overjoyed; this achievement has forever transformed the narrative of our family. Today, I am proud to be a teacher and have already enrolled for my Master's Degree (MASTER OF ART IN KISWAHILI) at Murang'a University, driven by my goal to become a university lecturer. Education has given me skills, resilience, and the chance to uplift my family and community.

This journey would not have been possible without the immense generosity and belief of key individuals and families. To my sponsor, Alicia Richardson, and the Richardson family: Thank you for making my dreams come true. Your commitment to my education was the foundation of this success, and I am eternally grateful for your faith in me.

To Baba Brent and Mama Rinda, the founders of Kenya Keys: Your vision created the path for students like me to escape poverty through education. Thank you for building this incredible organisation that saves lives and changes family narratives.

To Mr Joseph Mwengea, the Kenya Keys Director in Kenya: Your leadership and dedication on the ground ensured that the support was delivered exactly when it was needed most. Thank you for your tireless work.

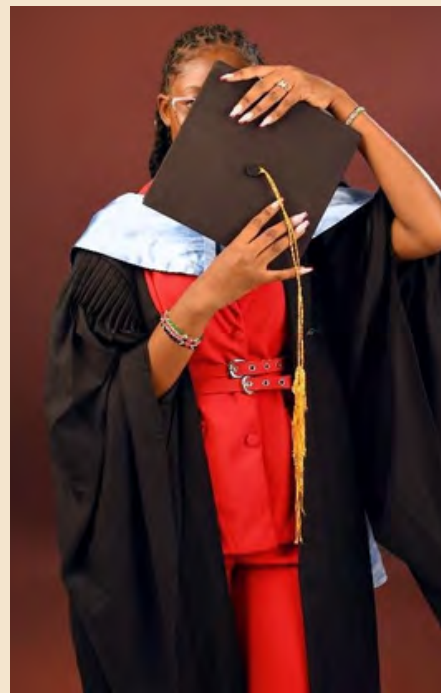

To every donor of Kenya Keys, please know that your generosity saved not just one life, but one family. You provided hope when there was none. I am a living testament to the power of your support, and I urge you to continue changing lives.

LUCY MWIKALI

My name is Lucy Mwikali Juma, I am 23 years old, and I come from Maledi Village in Lungalunga Sub-County, Kwale County. I was raised in a humble family where my parents worked hard every day just to put food on the table. I am the firstborn in a family of four children, and although my parents valued education, affording it was not easy. Before joining Kenya Keys, school life was tough. Most of the time, I was sent home for non-payment of fees, and sometimes I would stay home for weeks because my parents couldn't afford to pay. There were moments when I believed that education might not be possible for me because of my parents' situation and how tough life was back then.

I still remember the day I learned Kenya Keys had sponsored me. It was during the holidays when my aunt broke the news to me. It was on a Sunday immediately after church. For a moment, I couldn't even breathe. I felt a deep sense of relief, hope, and gratitude. It was the beginning of a new chapter that has really changed my life. Kenya Keys supported me in ways I had never imagined.

The Organization paid my school fees, provided for my personal needs, academic materials, mentorship, emotional support, and, later, accommodation and upkeep when I joined university. Of all the support, the mentorship made the most significant difference, especially while I was on campus, as these skills helped me build my confidence. Thereafter, I was able to vie for and win the position of Deputy President of the SOKU. Knowing that Kenya Keys believed in me and walked with me through every challenge gave me the strength and motivation to work extra hard.

I went on to study Bachelor's Education Arts at KIBABII UNIVERSITY. Going to university was something I had only dreamed about, and suddenly it was an answered prayer. The journey, however, was not easy. I faced academic pressure, financial strain, and moments of self-doubt. Sometimes the workload felt overwhelming, and there were days when I almost gave up. What kept me going was remembering where I had come from, the sacrifices my parents made, and the faith Kenya Keys had in me. The regular mentorship sessions, check-ins, and the family-like support gave me the strength to push forward.

Completing my course felt like climbing the highest mountain and finally reaching the peak. On my graduation day, I felt a mix of pride, emotion, and deep gratitude. This degree was proof that, despite all the hardships, I had made it. For my family, the day was even more meaningful. They had never dreamed that one of their children would graduate from university. In fact, some of my siblings never had the chance to pursue education due to financial challenges. Being the first in my family to graduate was a victory not only for me, but for my entire family.

Education has opened doors I never knew existed. It has given me confidence, improved my communication skills, enhanced my problem-solving abilities, fostered resilience, and instilled a strong commitment to service. I am no longer limited by the circumstances into which I was born. Instead, I now have the power to change my life and uplift those around me.

MBARAK MBUI

I was born in Dziweni village, Samburu-Chengoni Ward, Kwale County, the lastborn and only son in a family of peasant farmers. Growing up in a semi-arid environment, survival depended on scarce seasonal rains, teaching me resilience, humility, and the importance of community. I completed my KCPE with 310 marks, but my dream of joining high school seemed impossible as my parents could not afford the fees.

Kenya Keys became my turning point. Guided by my sister, I applied for their scholarship and was selected. This opportunity opened doors I had feared would remain closed. I joined Voi Boys High School, navigating leadership roles and academic challenges, including the disruptions caused by the COVID-19 lockdown, ultimately completing my secondary education with a B-. Kenya Keys then awarded me a full university scholarship to study Criminology and Security Studies at Chuka University, specializing in Forensic Investigation, which covered my tuition, accommodation, and living expenses.

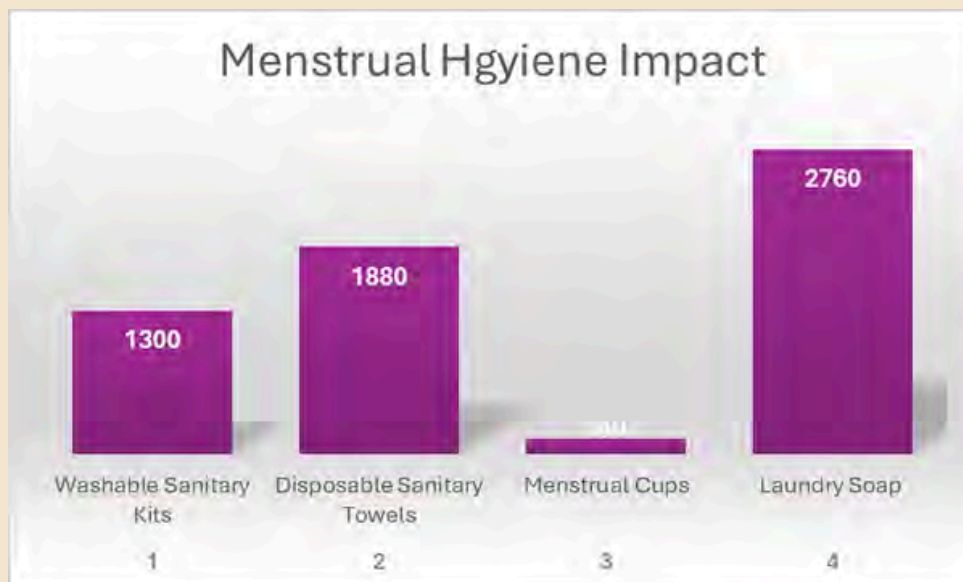

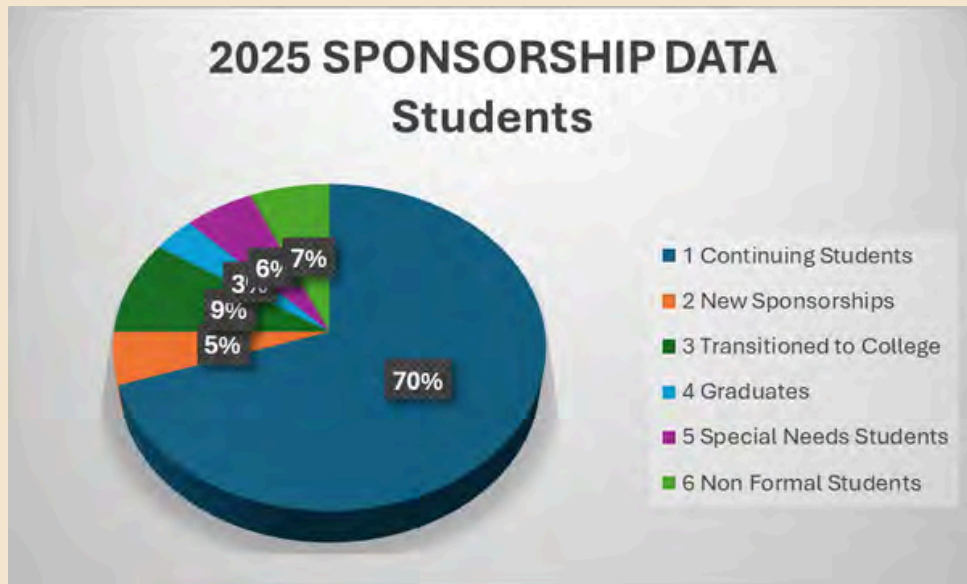

At university, I took on leadership roles as Welfare Director, later serving as Chairperson of the Kwale County Students Association, and Chairperson of the Chuka University Integrity Club. My industrial attachment at Taru Police Station deepened my understanding of criminal investigations and community policing. Volunteering with the Red Cross and Amnesty International strengthened my commitment to human rights and youth advocacy.

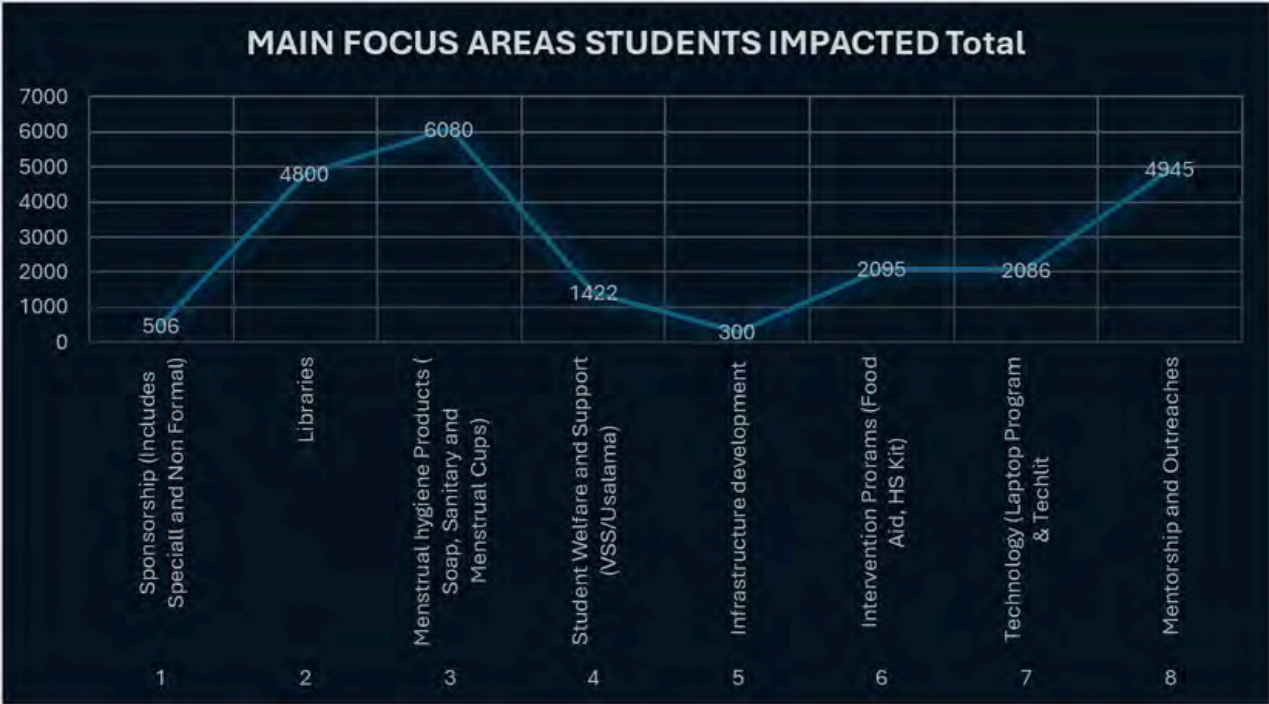

These experiences inspired me to give back. Witnessing firsthand the hardships faced by vulnerable families in my community, I founded Open Hand Alliance, stepping into my role as a Young CEO for Change. The organization aims to create a world where everyone has access to education, healthcare, and social support. Through sustainable programs, it empowers individuals and communities to break cycles of poverty and live with dignity, hope, and opportunity.

Everything I am today, a graduate, a leader, a youth advocate, and a Young CEO for Change, was made possible because Kenya Keys believed in me. Their support not only educated me but also transformed my life, enabling me to uplift others and build lasting impact in my community.

Dear Esteemed Partner,

On behalf of the entire Kenya Keys family, we extend our deepest gratitude for the extraordinary generosity you have continued to show throughout this year. Every achievement we celebrate, every life uplifted, and every dream revived stands as living proof that your support is not just funding a program; you are fueling a movement of hope.

Your partnership has enabled us to reach children in some of the most underserved communities, restoring confidence, opening doors to education, and lighting paths that many had feared would remain dark. Through mentorship, academic support, sanitary towel distribution, outreach programs, and daily encouragement, your contribution has been the heartbeat that keeps this mission alive.

This year alone, you have helped us provide mentorship to thousands, distribute dignity kits to girls, empower schools facing countless social challenges, and deliver life-changing guidance to communities seeking a way forward. You made it possible for students to receive the incentives that tell them, “You matter, and your future is worth investing in.” Because of you, the bridges built between students and opportunity are stronger than ever.

Your presence was also felt deeply during the visits from the US teams. Whether connecting with sponsored students, witnessing completed projects, or meeting families in their homes, your engagement reaffirmed the truth we see every day: when people come together with compassion and purpose, transformation becomes inevitable.

As we look back on this year, one thing is profoundly clear: “You are the reason Kenya Keys can continue breaking barriers, restoring dignity, and building the Future Leaders of Kenya and the World.

Thank you for walking this journey with us. Thank you for choosing hope. Thank you for choosing our students.

With tremendous appreciation and respect,

Kenya Keys

To Our Esteemed Kenya and U.S. Board Members,

As we close another remarkable year of service, we take this moment to express our deepest gratitude for your steadfast leadership, guidance, and unwavering commitment to the Kenya Keys mission. The past year, 2025, has been a testament to what coordinated vision, dedication, and strategic oversight can achieve.

Your tireless stewardship has fueled programs that continue to transform lives. From high school and college sponsorships to mentorship, gender-focused initiatives, and special education support, each success story is a direct reflection of your involvement, decision-making, and care.

This year, we celebrated milestones that would have been impossible without your strategic oversight: the opening of the Kenya Keys Community Education Centre, the successful completion of the Karimani School Project, and seamless coordination with our U.S. donor teams whose visits in March, June, and October allowed firsthand engagement with our students and projects. Your ability to bridge the vision between Kenya and our international partners ensures that each initiative is purposeful, well-supported, and deeply impactful.

Your leadership has created an environment where staff are motivated, programs are executed with precision, and students are given the dignity, resources, and mentorship they need to thrive. Whether it is providing laptops, launching kits, menstrual hygiene support, or enriching field trips and mentorship sessions, every success is made possible because of the strong foundation of governance you provide.

As we look ahead, your guidance will remain vital. Together, we will continue to unlock potential, break the cycles of poverty, and expand opportunities for education, mentorship, and empowerment for the next generation. We are proud to have your insight and dedication shaping every step of this journey.

On behalf of the entire Kenya Keys team, staff, students, and communities we serve, please accept our heartfelt thanks for your unwavering support, wisdom, and commitment. You are not only steering the organisation, but you are also shaping the future of countless lives across Kenya.

With deepest gratitude and respect.
